Competitors in The Evening Star Match-Open to Those Who Never Won Revolver Match.

By reason of the unprecedented enthusiasm and the exceptionally large number of entries it was found to be impossible to conclude the rifle and revolver meet of the National Guard of the District of Columbia yesterday, as had been planned. When darkness put in an appearance last evening the Harries long range match, the Brett revolver match, the novice revolver match, the senatorial trophy match, the distinguished marksman match and the Gerstenberg trophy match were far from finished. Therefore, Maj. Bell, the executive officer, announced that the meet would be extended and that firing could be continued today. Bright and early this morning the experts were on the new range. Most of them were wrapped in big capes or wore overcoats. The air was chilly and penetrating, and it did not require much exposure to render fingers numb. The sunshine, however, relieved the situation somewhat.

As briefly stated in The Star, First Lieut. Marshall Magruder late yesterday after-noon finished in the lead in The Evening Star match. He attained a total of 88 out of a possible 100. ...e scores at each dis-tance of the leading seven competitors

There were thirty-eight competitors The Evening Star match. The high score, 75, in the novice revolver match was attained by Lieut. Farrow. The match was open to officers and enlisted men in the army, navy, Marine Corps and National Guard who had never won a prize in any revolver competition. It was stated today that a protest will be entered against Farrow on the ground that he was not ellgible to compete in the match. The scores were: Farrow, 75; Davidson, 74; Heldenreich, 73; Skinner, 70; Bowie, 67; Alderman, 61; Putnam, 59; Cookson, 58; Summers, 58; Groome, 53; Hollifield, 53; Smith, 52; Hickey, 49; Hammerbacker, 43; Kappler, 40; Keeler, 40; Rittenhouse, 36; Hassel, 35; Locklin, 34; Mulloy, 34; Smith, 30; Williams, 25; Nelligan, 23; Dries, 20; Carpenter, 19; Ranney, 19; McGonegal, 18, and Kelly, 17.

The Brett revolver match, first prize being a wrist watch and holder, was won by Lieut. Alderman. Second prize, 300 revolver cartridges, went to Captain Cookson, and third prize, 200 cartridges, to Lieut. Davidson, 13th U. S. Cavalry. The Lieut. Alderman, 79; Captain Cookson, 76;

Mitchell, 62; Private Hammerbacker, 55; Sergt. Putnam, 55; Corporal Smith, 51; Corporal Dreis, 42; Captain Smith, 37; Captain Merriam, 37; Lieut. Hollifield, 36; Ma-jor Townsend, 34; Lieut. Locklin, 32; Private Hickey, 25; Private Hassel, 25; Sergt. Williams, 22, and Private Carpenter, 18. First Lieut. T. F. McAnally won the R. Harris & Co. trophy match with a total of 63 out of a possible 75. Sergeant Jack-son Morris attained the same total, 63, but the first place went to McAnally by reason of the fact that he made a better showing at 600 ; Merris. 600 yards, the longest range, than did

Won by Cookson.

Captain Cookson proved the victor in the Gerstenberg match, finished this afternoon, his score being 83. The medal of the National Rifle Association of America, awarded to the member of the 21 Regiment who made the best total in the first three stages of The Even-ing Star Match, was taken by Private Maurice Appleby, his total being 69. Licut. Magruder was second, with 67, and Major Harvey third, with 66. The twelve competitors firing in the final stage of the senatorial trophy match are private Appleby, Lieut, Alderman, Sergt, Farrow, Major Harvey, Lieut, Farrow, Lieut, Magruder, Major Bell, Captain Sum-mers, Corporal Bischoff, Captain Cookson,

Up-River Waters. Special Dispatch to The Star. HARPER'S FERRY, W. Va., October 21.-

OPPOSED TO NEW TITLE. Adjutant General Corbin Thinks Title

Both rivers are clear here today.

of Military Secretary Inappropriate. Major Gen. Henry C. Corbin, commanding the Philippines division, the only "adjutant general" in the army, has made a vogorous protest to the War Department against the substitution of the term "Military Secretary" for the time-honored title of "Adjutant General." He says the change has not met the appreciation of the service and "does violence to the long standing habits of the army."

Continuing, he says: "The officers immediately concerned are, and will continue to be, adjutants to general officers, or adju tants general, save possibly the few who are assigned to duty virtually as military secretaries to the Secretary of War. The designation seems to imply a relation between two individuals, one of whom is a civilian, rather than the military relation existing between two officers of the army. It seems out of place that a secretary should by his sign manual establish the official character of an order given by an army officer.

"The proper sequence would mean that we should substitute the title of military secretary for that of adjutant of regiments, No other country in the world, nor any state of the Union, is without an adjutant general. It was the designation given by

Washington and has continued since.
"The field service regulations, published February 1, 1905, provide for adjutants gen-eral on the staffs of army corps, divisions and brigades. It is recognized that these are all field organizaztions. But the act of April 23, 1904, provides that the office of adjutant general once vacant shall not be filled; and that of March 2, 1905, that the designation of assistant adjutant general shall cease. Hence these regulations pro-vide for a class of officers not known to the law. It is recommended that the former designation of the department be resume as in every particular the duties of the military secretary's department are by law those of the former adjutant general's department. The transfer of the accepted commissions in the adjutant general's department is without precedent in the history of the army. It is but justice to these that the original designation be restored.'
